She said the township of Claysburg is requiring her to get a permit, and she feels she should not have to have one. She was calling around to the different townships and asking if a permit was required. I said I wasn't sure and I would ask at our meeting. Ralph F Rispoli said when you go to Huntingdon's Farm Market or other locations you do have to pay a fee. She said the solicitor said if you sell your produce on your own property you don't need one. If you go to another location then you do.

David Bigelow asked about checking with Blair Co. Assessment Office to see if they have any Platt books. The book would help us when we need to know who owns a property. When construction is being done we can see if a permit was obtained.
